Religious Celebrations

Facts

Diwali is the five day festival of light, originally a Hindu festival now also celebrated by Buddhists & Sikhs. It celebrates new beginnings and the triumph of good over evil. Fireworks, family meals plus the lighting of oil lamps (diyas) & lanterns mark the occasion.

Holi is a Hindu festival that celebrates spring, love, and new life. Some families hold religious ceremonies, but for many Holi is more a time for fun. It's a colourful festival, with dancing, singing and throwing of powder paint and coloured water.

Ramadan is the 9th month of the Islamic calendar, it marks the event the Qu'ran (Muslim Holy book) was first revealed to Prophet Mohammad. During Ramadan most Muslims fast between dawn & sunset to teach self-discipline & to remind them of the suffering of the poor. The end of Ramadan is marked by a big celebration called 'Eid ul-Fitr'. Mosques hold special services and a special meal is eaten. During Eid ul-Fitr Muslims dress in their finest clothes, give gifts to children & spend time with their friends and family. Muslims will also give money to charity at Eid.
